How to reach

Bhubaneswar city is well connected by Air, Rail and Road. Accordingly participants may make their own arrangement to reach Bhubaneswar and local support of transport will be provided by the organizer with prior intimation by the participants.
Background Information:
The Directorate of Cashew Nut and Cocoa Development is the subordinate office of the Department of Agriculture, Cooperation and Farmers Welfare, Government of India. It was established in the year 1966 and became the nodal agency for the promotion and development of cashew in the country. Prior to post independence era, till the end of 3rd Plan, no Central agency was there to devote an undivided attention towards the development of cashew in our country. A first step towards the integration and coordination of cashew development in association with the development agencies of the State and research institutions was started by this Directorate from then. The area under cashew at the time of establishment of Directorate of Cashew Nut Development (1966) was 2.40 lakh ha with the annual production of 1.00 lakh MT. The productivity was as low as 400 kg/ha. The efforts of the Directorate during the five decades of the existence did help in increasing the area five fold (10.41 lakh/ha) and production by six fold (7.79 lakh MT). The productivity also substantially increased to the level of 753 kg/ha by registering 4% annual growth.

About the Crop
Cashew is one of the important commercial crop in the global market. India was earlier world’s largest supplier of quality cashew kernel, earning sizeable foreign exchange and now it ranks second in the world trade with tough competition from Vietnam. Since, the indigenous production of rawnuts in India is 50 percent of the domestic requirement, India depends also on imported rawnuts from Asian and African countries to meet the demand. Indian cashew sector sustains employment for 1.50 million people in the cashew farming, processing and marketing sector. Our country has got wider resources with regard to latest technical knowhow, adequate manpower and congenial environment for cashew cultivation. As the demand of rawnuts by the domestic processing industries is in increasing trend, there is an urgent need to enhance the domestic production.

Research and Development initiatives are being carried in this sector and it has been publicized, but exclusive meet like National conference on Cashew to share research findings and developmental strategies with all the stakeholders in the country is to be improved. This conference on cashew will provide new vista to share the research & developmental efforts and experiences with scientific community, development departments/institutions, farmers, traders, entrepreneurs etc. which would help to draw feasible strategies for the development of cashew in India.

About the Conference:
The National Conference on Cashew is being organised by this Directorate at Swosti Premium, Jayadev Vihar, Bhubaneswar in association with Odisha State Cashew Development Corporation on 12th & 13th February 2018. The theme of the conference is “Encashing technological innovations for production and processing of Cashew”. The conference will focus on exchange of research results, latest advancement in production processing and industrial development in cashew industry. The technical programme includes two days technical session including panel discussion and presentation by renowned experts and scientists from different organizations which would help to draw feasible strategies for encashing technological innovation for production & processing of cashew. Around 300 delegates from major cashew growing states will participate in the conference.

Registration:
All participants of the Conference are required to register their name through our website http://dccd.gov.in or by e-mail (dccd@nic.in) or fax (0484-2377239) well in advance for reservation of accommodation at Hotels. The TA/DA of participants will have to be met from their organisation.
